

HellsBells

24HR // ADVENTURE RACE

Information Pack

6-7 AUGUST 2022

WELCOME TO HELLS BELLS 2022

Hells Bells in Kenilworth is a bit of a home-coming. This is where it all started in 2016 when we took on the challenge of keeping the Hells Bells dream alive and delivered our first Adventure Race.

In many respects (ok, all respects), we didn't know what we were in for, or doing. But the stories excited us and we fell in love with the idea of adventure racing. The creative challenge of designing a course, exploring and discovering new trails, buying gear, negotiating permits, buying more gear, and then rush of launching tickets sales and hoping and praying that someone will buy a ticket!

Looking through the records, the biggest Hells Bells to date had 190 participants in 2006. This year we're proud to say we smashed that record and at time of writing, have 234 people signed up in 88 teams – something must be working!

As seems to be the case with all events in recent years, just getting the course done and approved has been a real challenge, especially with the recent wet weather – but we got there and it's going to be epic!

The race format is a linear course designed around an 80+km course for Fairy Bells and 120+km for Hells Bells. While the distances may be a touch under this year, we certainly make up for it in other ways. Unlike recent years, there are definitely some hills on the course which are as much a challenge to go up as they are to come down! There is also plenty of water in the creeks and rivers, so the paddling should be lots of fun. It's a bit of a jungle out there too so make sure you can take a bearing, read a topographical map and follow a ridge.

On the sponsors side it's exciting that Mountain Designs is continuing to stay on board as the headline sponsor for Hells Bells and all our adventure races this year. They sit along side Trail Brew and Spring Energy who will be out on the course!

I'm sure you're all training hard, it's definitely time to plan one last Sunday session and start to prep the gear.

Looking forward to seeing you all in Kenilworth!

Chris Dixon

RACE DIRECTOR

HISTORY

The Hells Bells Adventure Race was created in 2004 by Craig and Louise from Geocentric Outdoors and is Australia's longest running 24hr adventure race.

Each year the organisers choose a beautiful location somewhere on the Sunshine Coast in Queensland. In the first year over 150 athletes started at the Dayboro Show Grounds catching the train into the CBD to begin the race with an urban rogaine before heading north.

For the first few years there was only a full course option with Fairy Bells being introduced in 2009. The race format hasn't changed much with race distances and disciplines relatively consistent since the start. In 2016 Chris Dixon from Wild & Co took over Hells Bells from Sunshine Coast Adventure Racing Legend, David Schloss.

John Harvey Memorial Trophy

The custom built John Harvey Memorial Trophy is presented each year to the winning team of the Hells Bells 24hr adventure race. John Harvey was tragically killed in a car accident while working as a staff member at XPD – Australia's Expedition Adventure Race in 2007. He was a passionate adventure racer and mountain biker who competed or assisted at many races, including all of the Hells Bells races. His smile and enthusiasm is what is most remembered by those who knew him.

THE ARWS OCEANIA SERIES

The ARWS Oceania Adventure Race Circuit is a collection of the best mid-distance adventure races in the Oceania region. Participating teams earn points towards their AR Regional Ranking and the winner of each round gains entry to the ARWS Oceania Championship.

The winner of the Regional Championship gains an entry to the Adventure Racing World Championship and part of a cash prize pool of AUD$10,000 ($5,000 for first place, $3,500 for second and $1,500 for third).

RACE HQ + ACCOMMODATION

Hells Bells has been designed to move to a different location on the Sunshine Coast each year. It has been as far north as Rainbow Beach and south as Bribie Island.

The 2022 event will be held out of the beautiful hinterland town of Kenilworth. Famous for its rolling green hills, local fresh produce, national park camp grounds and of course the Kenilworth Bakery!

HQ will be based out of the Kenilworth Showgrounds. There are plenty of accommodation options available from luxury airbnb's to camping at race HQ at the Showgrounds.

COURSE AND DISCIPLINES

The Mountain Designs Hells Bells course is a linear adventure race. All teams begin the adventure at the same point, then navigate their way through each leg consecutively.

At the end of each leg is a Transition Area where you change from one discipline to the next. You will not stop via HQ during the race. The race finish will be at HQ.

Disciplines this year include:

- Kayaking inland rivers and waterways
- Hiking / trail running
- Mountain biking
- Navigation
- There is a “Mystery Discipline” for 2022

Please ensure you have thoroughly researched what is involved with the race and are sufficiently prepared. The website www.HellsBells.com.au has extensive information. There are many other sources of information, the internet, discussion groups and books.

TEAM LOGISTICS

Hells Bells and Fairy Bells are unsupported races and there are a few key items that you will need to bring.

GEAR BOXES

Each team is to provide 2 x plastic boxes with a volume of no greater than 55l each for 2 person teams or 100l for 4 person teams (max packed weight of 25kgs). These boxes will need your team name and a letter on them (A and B). Pack items such as:

- Food (e.g. sandwiches, bars, trail mix, etc)
- Drink (water bottles, electrolyte)
- Dry spare clothing (e.g. shirt, socks, jumper etc)
- Batteries for headlamp/ mountain bike
- First aid (e.g. strapping tape, chaffing cream)
- Bike spares (e.g. tubes, pump, lube)

In the logistics plan and course notes you will be told the different locations on the course where the organisers will pre-position each of these boxes for you. Boxes are packed prior to the start and submitted to the logistics official. Be aware that what you pack in these boxes is what you will receive later in the course. Some duct tape is recommended to secure the lids of your boxes.

PADDLE BAG

All teams (including those hiring paddle and PFDs) must provide a labelled paddle bag or method for the teams paddles and paddle gear to be bundled together – tie down straps are a good idea. The only items permitted in this bag are the mandatory kayaking equipment such as paddles, PFDs and glow sticks plus any foam seating used by teams. The Maximum weight allowed is 20kgs. If paddles don't fit inside your paddle bag, they must be firmly attached to the bag.

BIKE DROP

Hells Bells generally includes a bike drop before the race. The location of the 2022 bike drop will be announced on Friday the 5th August at 6pm. The location is 10kms, 15 mins from HQ. Hells Bells Teams are to leave their bikes and paddle bag at the bike drop location (see logistics plan below).

Fairy Bells teams will leave their bike at HQ.

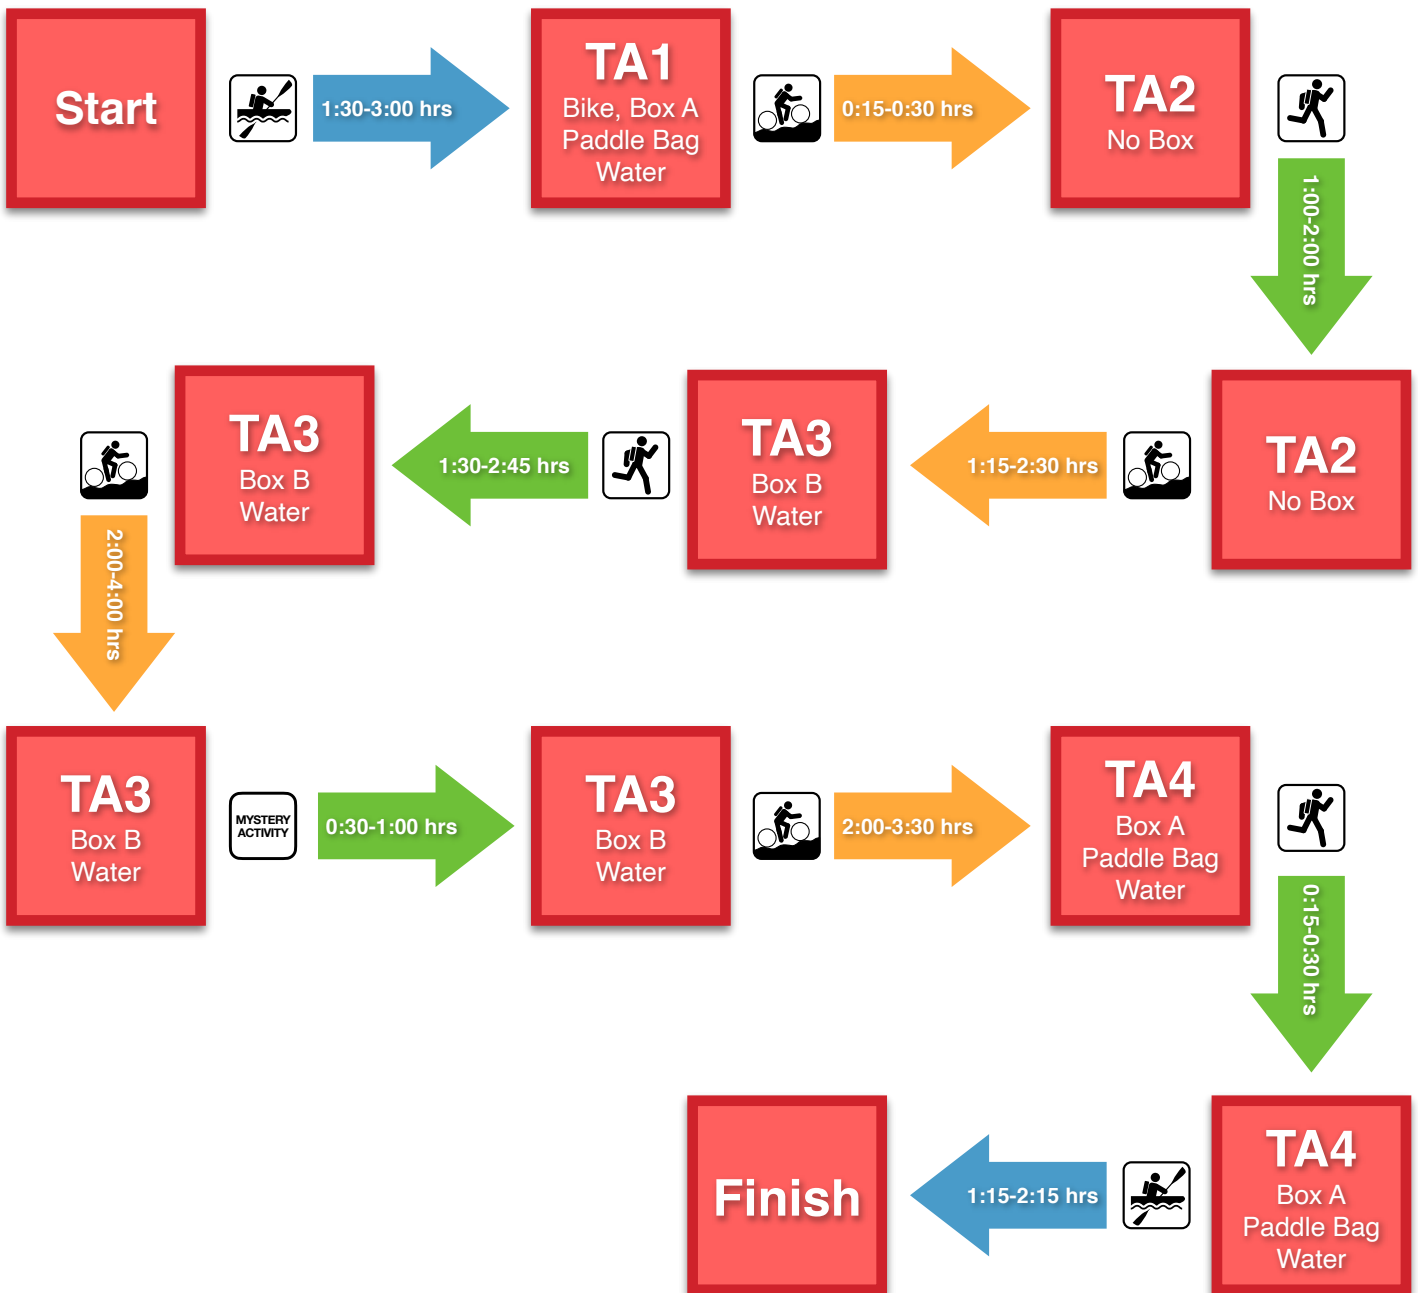

HELLS BELLS LOGISTICS PLAN

NOTE: Times are estimates only for planning purposes and pre-packing boxes, details subject to change in the course notes on the day

TA1 is the bike drop location. Teams are to leave their bikes, Box A and Paddle Bag at this location

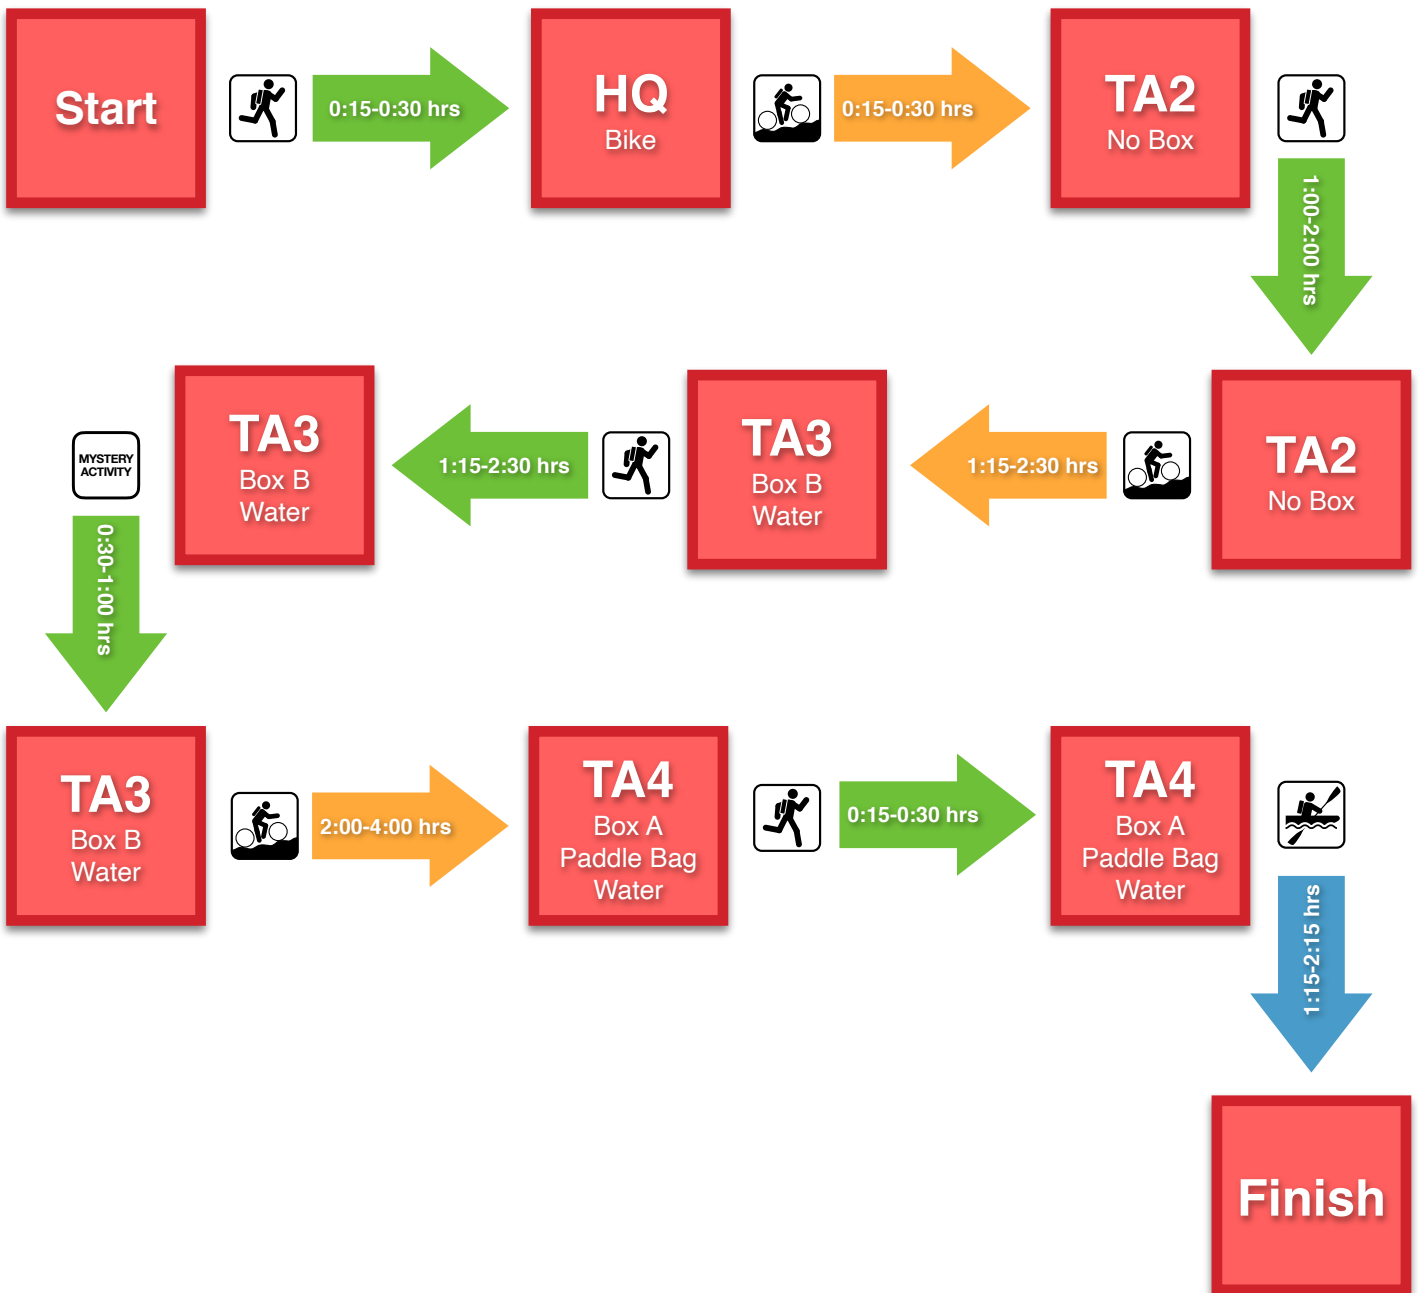

FAIRY BELLS LOGISTICS PLAN

NOTE: Times are estimates only for planning purposes and pre-packing boxes, details subject to change in the course notes on the day

HQ is the bike drop location for Fairy Bells. Teams must leave their bikes in the designated area.

ON THE COURSE

RACE FINISH AND CUT OFFS

Official course closure is 11:00 am on Sunday morning. All teams must be back by this time.

If during the race you think it doesn't look like your team will finish the course, we recommend you still race for the full time allocated and finish as many legs as you can. You should attempt to collect at minimum one checkpoint per leg to give yourself the best chance of staying as a ranked team.

CHECK POINTS (CP)

Checkpoints (or "Controls") are a point marked on the map with a purple circle (and number/letter) that you will need to visit as a team during the race. At the physical location of a checkpoint you will find a 30cm x 30cm or 15cm x 15cm orange and white orienteering marker. These are usually tied to a tree branch or similar with string. Hanging from the marker is a small punch device that you must use to make an indentation in your control card or race control bands. This indentation proves to the officials that you have visited that checkpoint. Some checkpoints may only have the punch chained to something secure (without the flag - which can tend to attract people to steal it) so use the description to assist in locating the punch. These CPs may or may not have some red and white tape to indicate the general area of the chain.

All numerical CPs (CP1, CP2, CP3) must be collected in the correct numerical order. Alphabetical CPs (CP A, CP B, CP C) may be collected in any order as deemed most efficient by your team.

MISSING CPS

You may arrive at a location you believe is correct and you can't find the checkpoint (e.g. you are in the wrong location or it has been stolen or incorrectly placed by the organisation). You can continue to search for the checkpoint, however if you are absolutely certain the control is missing, it is recommended you take a photos of the area if you have a camera. You should also ensure your tracker has a good view of the sky for approximately 5 minutes to register your location. If the race organisation verifies the control is missing or misplaced, and you can prove you were in the correct spot, you will be credited with this checkpoint. No time adjustments will be made.

ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT

Human Waste: You must bury all human waste 20cm below the ground and at least 100 metres from creeks or water ways, or alternatively use a public toilet.

Rubbish: You must carry all rubbish with you to a bin. This particularly relates to the gel packets. If you drop litter on the course we will not be able to get permissions to use areas in the future. If you see rubbish left by another team, please pick it up. We all accidentally drop things, so do the right thing and ensure we can continue to use beautiful areas in the future.

Wildlife: Hopefully you will see some wildlife during the event. Do not approach or disturb wildlife.

Tracks: Minimise the impact on vegetation by using existing trails where possible.

Gates: Leave them as you found them.

TOILETS AND WATER

There are toilets at some of the transition areas. These are detailed in the course notes. Water is available at some but not all TAs and CPs. Plan wisely for this.

COURSE MARKINGS

No direction arrows, tape, markers etc are placed on the course (unless specifically noted in the Course Notes or on Maps).

TIME ESTIMATES

“Fast” time estimates are based on estimated speed of a top 3 team completing that section in good weather conditions and excluding stops/sleep. “To Finish” times are based on estimated speed of a team who will complete the full course and finish just prior to the final race cut off, completing that section in good weather conditions and excluding sleep.

EQUIPMENT

MANDATORY EQUIPMENT

The most up to date Mandatory Equipment list is on the website www.hellsbells.com.au. This is the list that will be used and please ignore any reference to the AR World Series Equipment list. Mandatory equipment checks may be conducted during the race.

CLICK HERE TO SEE THE MANDATORY GEAR LIST

RACE MAPS

Your team is provided with ONE set of colour 1:25k topographic maps, on A4 & A3 sheets for a 2 person team and TWO sets for a 4 person team

Each set is printed on waterproof paper and doesn't require contacting or laminating.

There is also an overview map included. The maps have been printed from common source data, meaning that all colours, symbols, contour intervals, magnetic variation and scale are consistent between all race maps.

RACE NUMBERS

Every competitor is provided with a race number that must be worn and be visible at all times during the race – the best strategy for attaching these is a triathlon style race number belt.

PHONES – COMPULSORY EQUIPMENT

Don't forget you are required to provide one fully charged mobile phone on the Telstra network (Optus & Vodafone don't get sufficient coverage to send a message). Let's face it, if you need to make an emergency call, you want to get coverage.

There is Telstra 3G/4G coverage throughout most of the course. Please note that coverage is generally better on high points, or on points with direct view of a phone tower (usually towards populated areas along the coastal strip). Coverage lessens as you head inland, and certainly when in the valleys (where there may be no reception at all).

Your phone MUST be turned off and stored inside your bag at all times. It or any other phone must not be used at all while you are racing unless it is for an emergency. You are NOT permitted to call a support crew, surf the live site or find your location on a map! Make sure you have a waterproof bag for your phone too.

PERSONAL GPS

If you would like to record your route you are able to carry a GPS recording device inside your bag. It must not be visible.

Garmin brand GPS watches may be worn as long as they are set to 'Adventure Racing' mode.

HELLS BELLS KAYAKS

Organisers will provide Hells Bells and Fairy Bells teams with kayaks. You will need to provide a throw bag or tow rope, whistles, glow sticks as per the equipment list.

Organisers will move kayaks to the start, and from the end of each kayak. You will not keep the same exact same kayak for through the race so please remove all your equipment at the end of each kayak leg.

Kayaks used will be double Mission 'Surge' kayaks as pictured above.

PFD'S AND PADDLES

All Hells Bells competitors are encouraged to bring their own paddles and PFDs.

Organisers can hire PFDs and Paddles if needed for a small fee, however you MUST let us know how many you need by Wednesday 3rd August as we need to source these for you. You must place an order with us for the required equipment using this form:

If you do not let us know, you will not have one provided. Pre-ordered PFDs and paddles must be collected at race registration and will be collected back at the end of the race.

SAFETY

PARTICIPANT RESPONSIBILITY

During the event you must be aware the rescue by the organisers or emergency services may not be possible immediately. In the first instance you are responsible for yourself and your team mates.

Organisers have assets in place to assist, but they may not be immediately available.

It is not practically possible to provide all the safety needed for all the possible scenarios. If you are not willing to accept this self responsibility, you should not start the race.

If you get to a point in the course that you decide you are not comfortable and confident in completing safely, it is your responsibility to do something.

If you feel the level of inherent risk is unacceptable, do something about it. Avoid it, withdraw, it is your decision.

SAFETY ASSETS INCLUDE:

- Firstly your team mates.
- Event officials with first aid certificates and training.
- 1 x First Response team with first aid trained officials.
- Watercraft safety including event officials and the Surf Lifesaving Club for ocean kayaking.
- Normal access to emergency services via '000'.

NO ROAD CLOSURES

No roads have been closed for the event. You must use extreme caution any time you are on a road. You must obey road rules at all times.

SUPPORTERS

HELLS BELLS AND FAIRY BELLS ARE UNSUPPORTED RACES

This means that at no point on the course are you allowed to receive help or support from anyone.

That said....your family, friends and supporters are more than welcome to come to the event and visit the TAs to cheer you on. Over the years the number of families coming to the event for a holiday weekend has increased significantly. Most teams now come with a large entourage of family and friends!

Supporters are welcome to attend the race briefing and the race notes and course maps will be available electronically as a .PDF file linked to the main www.HellsBells.com.au website and facebook page.

A four wheel drive vehicle is not required to visit the TAs, but you will be required to drive on good unsealed roads. It is recommended that you fill your vehicle with fuel before the start. 24hr service stations may be difficult to find.

LIVE COVERAGE

LIVE WEB COVERAGE

As in previous years, the event will have dedicated live web site. There will also be a version optimised for your mobile devices (eg iPhone/ iPad). The link for this will be shared during the week before the race. (and linked to www.hellsbells.com.au)

Teams will carry tracking devices so the world can watch your every move while your race. Images, interviews, social media and maps of the course will also be posted to the site. Coverage will commence on Saturday morning.

Recommended - If your supporters can access a smart phone or tablet, they will be able to watch you throughout the race and know when to arrive at transitions.

FACEBOOK: Photos and updates will be posted on the Wild&Co Facebook page - www.facebook.com/wldnco

TRACKING

Each team will be issued with a live tracking device. This is to be kept inside the water proof container/bag provided and it MUST be carried in the top of your back pack otherwise it won't work. The device is water resistant but not designed to be submerged - keep it in the container/bag!

The device stores your location through the inbuilt GPS and will transmit every 15 seconds providing it has reception. If it can't send, it will continue to store your locations until it gets reception.

Please note if you are lost and in a remote area without phone coverage, we may not be able to see your location. Move to high ground and different aspects of a hill or high point for a better chance of GPS reception.

RACE RULES

RACE RULES

The event uses the standard Adventure Racing World Series rules of competition.

Adventure racing relies on the honesty of teams during the race. If you observe a team on the course breaking any of the race rules please raise this directly with the team. They may be new to the sport and not be aware of some particular rules. There may also be a valid reason or you may have misunderstood the situation - in which case you can clarify the situation there and then.

OUT OF BOUNDS (OOB)

There are a number of out of bounds areas marked on the race maps in pink. These are generally dangerous areas such as the main Highway and other major roads, other imposed restrictions from QLD Forestry and National Parks (eg recent harvesting), or specific private land holdings that we do not have permission to use.

Out of bounds areas are STRICTLY no go. Traversing these areas will receive heavy penalties or disqualification. If you find yourself in an OOB area, you must return the way you entered and go around.

Private Property is always out of bounds unless you are told it is specifically open to the event. Some private property may be marked in pink on race maps where the organisers think it may help teams when planning a route. However, you are still prohibited from entering private property even if it is not marked in pink on your race maps.

PENALTIES AND DISQUALIFICATIONS

Disqualifications will normally result from a deliberate breach of the race rules. Time penalties will normally result from an un-intentional breach of the rules or non-completion of a segment of the course. The penalty will usually be in the form of additional time added to a team's final race time.

Below is an indication of penalties given at past Hells Bells races:

- Break 100m rule - 4-8hrs, or DQ if this occurs in potentially dangerous area (including ocean kayaking).
- Missing mandatory equipment at a check - 2-4hrs .
- Lost control card / wrist band - 0.5 - 1hr per band.
- Incorrectly punching wrist band / not punching master card with wrist band - 15 mins.
- Missing CP - 2-4hrs.
- Late finish - 2.5 x time past official finish time.
- Assistance by safety craft - 6-10hrs.
- Rescue from dangerous situation - DQ.

RACE FINISH

FINISH LINE

Finish line will be at Race HQ.

PIZZA OR A BURGER TO FINISH

Unfortunately this year due to our COVID-safe plan there will be no food served at the event.

There are several great cafes and breakfast spots just around the corner of the race HQ that would really appreciate the business.

RACE PRESENTATIONS

These are short and sweet as we know everyone is getting ready for a long drive home.

But make sure you hang around as we have $500 in random draw prizes on offer - bring your race number to be in the draw!

COURSE CLOSURES

All teams must be finished by 11:00am

VOLUNTEERS

Many event volunteer officials have given up their time to assist over the weekend which makes it possible for you to participate in this adventure race. Please be courteous to them on the course and make sure when you see them that you tell them you appreciate them contributing their time to support this event and our sport.

If there is an issue on the course that causes any anger or frustration then you must talk to the event directors. Bad behaviour to the volunteer officials will not be tolerated.

FINAL POINTS

Don't forget, there is a lot of information on the web site (www.HellsBells.com.au) that you will need to be aware of.

Reminder – every participant in the Mountain Designs Hells Bells needs to have Ambulance cover. If you have forgotten to do this, make sure it is done prior to race registration. Check that your team mates have the required cover. Competitors who live in states such as Queensland and Tasmania do not require a separate policy as they are already covered under state legislation.

Insurance – The event organisers have a public liability insurance policy to the value of 20 million dollars. This is a compulsory insurance policy in Australia for events that are organised on, or cross through, any form of government land/public place. This is not personal accident insurance for you! It is strongly recommended you have your own personal accident insurance.

Team captains – once again please note that this information has only been sent to those email addresses you provided on your entry form. Don't forget to tell your team mates what is happening!
